W-Wodqa®

Wodqa® is an ultra premium spirit – flavored by nature.
The extremely pure distillate is distilled seven times and never(!) filtered.

The basic elements of wheat and water, as well as the distillation, are decisive for the outstanding quality of W-Wodqa®.

The winter wheat comes from a small farm. The granite primary rock provides our water with valuable minerals and at the same time is the reason for its extremely low lime content. The water is drawn freshly from a spring in a nearby Austrian nature reserve and is then used within 24 hours.

The subsequent distillation according to the pot-still method (in a still, as is common for good whiskeys and fine spirits) follows with highest accuracy. The distillate comes from the middle run of the distillation process, the so-called »heart«, which is separated in a particularly composed and meticulous way.

Of course, such a pure distillate is free of any additives (even legally permitted ones), be it sugar or other aromatic substances.

The consistency in production, which is based on the purity of the raw materials, makes any kind of filtering unnecessary. The fine grain flavors are thus preserved and are transported by the mineral-rich water.

With regionality, freshness and quality, we produce an extremely soft and aromatic vodka – ergo no little water (Slavic, Russian, Polish for Vodka) that has been »filtered to death«, but a true aqua vitae.

The producer's maxim of »Q for quality« is therefore not only an inherent part of the company and brand names through the use of the letter »q«, but also a particular feature of the distillate: a spirit that is extremely pure and consistently different.
